Winter War (11/39 to 3/40)

Cohesion 15 -18
Determination 35% to 45%

Independent Units:

Ranger (Sissi) Battalion<sup>4</sup>: 1x Ranger Inf HQ, 2x Ranger Infantry, 3x Ranger Companies

Ranger Company: 3x Ranger Infantry

Tank Battalion: 2x FT-17 Tank Companies, 2x Vickers Tank Companies, 1x 'Spares' Tank Company, 1x Armored Car Company

FT-17 Company<sup>5</sup>: 3x FT-17 (MG)

Vickers Company: 3x Vickers Mk E (37mm)
may replace 1 Vickers w/ 1x T26 or 1x BT-5

Spares Tank Company: no more than 3 tanks of:
0-3x Vickers Mk E

Or: 0-2x BT-5

Or: 0-2x T-26

Armored Car Company<sup>6</sup>: 1-3x BA-20

Or: 1-3x BA-6

Or: 1-3x BA-10

Notes:

1: The transport should be a kubelwagen or light truck.

2: The Finnish Army sourced their artillery from around the world (from as far away as Argentina and Japan) and consequently had a wide array of artillery weapons. The units presented in the Weapons Data Table are merely representational (and a greatly truncated list of the complete Finnish inventory). The player of this force should randomly determine which type of weapon the Battalion is equipped with. Players may wish to randomly determine which type of weapon each battery is equipped with for more fun.

3: The Jaeger Battalion is +1 Force Cohesion higher than the rest of the division and are all Ski capable. All infantry companies of the battalion will be organized in the same way. If the infantry companies have the support stands integrated, remove the MG Company.

4: Ranger Battalion units were designed to operate behind enemy lines or in the dense swamps and forests of Finland and were very independent from the overall command and even each other. Every Ranger unit is Ski equipped. The Ranger Infantry should have a Force Cohesion level 3 points higher than the overall Force Cohesion level. Consequently these units cost more.

5: One source indicates the FT-17s were only used defensively (not surprising).

6: Sources differ on how many of these armored cars were available. The Finns captured Soviet armored cars from the outset of conflict so a BA-6 or BA-10 may be substituted for any of the Landsverks from 12/39 on.

Cavalry Regiment '39: 1x Cavalry GHQ, 1x Cavalry, 3x Cavalry Squadrons, 1x 37PstK/36 Anti-Tank Gun, 1x Limber

Cavalry Squadron: 2x Dismounted Cavalry

There were two Cavalry Regiments of note, The Uudenmaan Rakuunarykmentti (Uusimaa Dragoon Regiment - URR) and Hämeen Ratsurykmentti (Häme Cavalry Regiment - HRR). Both were elite units during the winter war but fought dismounted -as infantry. "During the continuation War they received their horses but as the war dragged on their horses were replaced with bicycles in an ever increasing extent."

Infantry Division '44:

1x Div HQ, 2x Infantry Regiments, 1x Separate Infantry Battalion, 1x Field Artillery Regiment, 0-1x Heavy Artillery Battalion, 1x Engineer Battalion, 1x Heavy Mortar Company, 2x ATG Companies, 1x AAMG Company

There were no changes to the structure of the Infantry Regiments, but due to manpower shortages they were simply reduced to 2 regiments and kept a 'reserve' battalion. The fire power of units continued to rise from 42 through 44 as detailed below.

Div. Hvy. Mortar Company: 1x 120mm Mortar [3], 1x wagon or Light Truck

Regt. Mortar Battery: 1x 120mm Mortar [3], 1x wagon or Light Truck

Infantry Company '44: 2x Infantry '41, 1x Pz Jaeger Inf '44

Horse Artillery Battery: 1x 76 RK27-39 IG [2], 1x Limber

Anti-Tank Gun Company: 3x 37PstK/36 ATG's 3x Limber

Use the Cavalry Regiment '39 organization for the two cavalry regiments, but replace the Regimental GHQ with an HQ. These were the URR and HRR regiments. Use the Jaeger Battalion organization from the armored division of '42 for this Jaeger Battalion.

Cavalry Brigade '42:

1x Cavalry Brigade GHQ, 2x Cavalry Regiments '42, 1x Jaeger Battalion, 1x Horse Artillery Battery, 1x Anti-Tank Company

Cavalry Regiment '42 1x Cavalry HQ, 1x Cavalry, 3x Cavalry Squadron '42's, 1x Weapons Squadron, 1x 8cm Mortar [2], 1x Cavalry ATR

Cavalry Squadron '42 3x Cavalry

Weapons Squadron 2x Cavalry Support, 1x Bicycle Support, 1x Cavalry ATR

Playing WWII Micro Armour®: The Games in the Snow – Suggested Rules for Scenarios during Winter Conditions

Any treatment of a topic like “The Winter War” quickly conjures images of lots of white terrain boards and model figures. But the WWII rules are devoid of any rules covering weather of any type. The Modern Game rules do cover the topic so we will borrow from them as follows:

Weather Conditions effects on Visibility and Movement:

Unless they are contradictory, all effects of weather on movement or visibility are cumulative.
Haze or Light Fog: reduce maximum sighting distance by 1d20%.

Light Rain: reduce maximum sighting distance by 2d6%.

Heavy Rain or Light Snow: reduce maximum sighting distance by 3d6%.

Heavy Snow or Heavy Fog: reduce maximum sighting distance to 3d6”.

Snow: Treat all ‘clear’ terrain as Rough Terrain 1.

Deep Snow: Treat all ‘clear’ terrain as Rough Terrain 1 and double all movement point costs.

Extreme Cold: - Treat water terrain types (lakes, rivers or streams) as Rough Terrain 1

Weather Conditions effect on Cohesion:

If the scenario is occurring in extreme cold (or heat) consider lowering the force cohesion level by up to 4.

Ski Troops/Bicycle Troops:

Many countries fielded ‘mountain infantry’ units which were trained and equipped to operate in the snow. This was the case for pretty much the whole Finnish army during both The Winter War and The Continuation War. Here are some guidelines for their performance in game terms:

If a Mountain Infantry or Finnish Infantry unit is operating in Snow or Deep Snow it may be designated as equipped with skis. These units treat Deep Snow as just Rough Terrain 1. They also have their base movement rates increased by +1 in any Clear terrain and on Tracks.

In this guide bicycle troops are called for by Finnish infantry units. Here are some guidelines for their performance in game terms:

Bicycle infantry were featured in many nations’ forces throughout the war. These troops could move faster than ‘foot’ infantry in most relatively clear types of terrain. But they were slower and more limited than either cavalry or motorcycle borne soldiers.

Bicycle infantry remain classed as ‘foot’ movement type stands. They may spend up to 5 movement points each turn, however; the 2 points greater than standard infantry stands may only be used in the following terrain types or situations: Clear terrain, any type of Building terrain, and on any type of Road or Track.

Bicycle infantry are normally treated as foot infantry for all sighting purposes. They immediately dismount and perform as foot infantry in all combat situations including overrun and close assault situations. They may not use their bicycle movement points to conduct overruns or close assaults.

Weapon	GHQ Model #	Extended Notes
FT-17 (MG)	FR15
FT-17 (gun)	FR15
Vickers Mk E	(R25)	T-26 hull w/7TP-J turret comes closer, but not exact – trim barrel
T-26	R25
OT-130	R25
BT-5	R27
37 PstK/36 (Bof. 37L45)	P11	The Bofors 37mm ATG w/ polish/ital prime mover
25 PstK/37 (Fr. 25L77)	FR13	The French 25mm ATG
45 PstK/32 (Sov. 45L46)	R38	Soviet 45mm ATGs –'32- '38 w/shorter barrel than '42 version
8cm Mortar [1]	G80
8cm Mortar [2]	G80
76 RK27-39 IG (76.2L16) [2]	R38	Soviet 76mm IG, included in same pack as 45mm ATG's
75 K97 (Fr. 75L36) [2]	P10	The French "75"
75 K 01/02 (75L31) [2]	(P10)	A Krupp design imported from Sweden and Norway (Japan mfd. a similar design - Type 38). Could possibly use J7 (?), but molded on crew are too lightly dressed
76 K 02 gun (76.2L30) [2]	(P10)	Imp. Russian design, looks almost identical to P10 w/out barrel tip fixture
76 K 02-30 (76.2L40) [2]	(FR12)	Modernized 76 K 02 – improved performance w modern wheels and rubber tires.
105 K13 (105L23) [2]	(P9)	Same gun as P9 but most in Fin service had modern wheels/rubber tires.
114 H 18 (114L15) [2]		No models but this is the British 4.5
122 H 10/30 (122L13) [2]
150 H 14J (150L12) [2]		Krupp 150 built by Japanese (looks a bit like a shieldless 122)

T-28	R29	Captured Soviet T-28's
BA-20 & FAI Armored Car	R53	These two cars look almost identical and have nearly identical performance and weaponry
BA-6	(R45)
BA-10	R45
Infantry HQ	G144, G507, G525, G521	While the Fins used a lot of soviet small arms their helmets appear to be German made or copies of the German design.
Infantry '39	G144, G507, G525, G521	These troops should mostly consist of the Winter troops (G521)
ATR Infantry '40	R64
Infantry Support	G145, G80, G522	These troops should mostly consist of the Winter troops (G522)
Ranger Infantry	G521	+3 Cohesion,
Cavalry '39	G73, G74	These troops fought dismounted so use G521 or 522
Cavalry Support	G80, G145 (dm)	These troops fought dismounted so use G521 or 522
Car	G40	The Kubelwagon is suggested
Daimler-Steyr Lt Truck	G37, G79 or R42	Representational, could also use Soviet R42 (GAZ light trucks)
Wagon/Sled	G501	You'll have to scratch build your own sleds
Limber	G75
